Tyco fire businesses join forces for Wildfire Conference

Wormald and GAAM Emergency Products will be taking part in the International Wildfire Management Conference from June 18 to 20 2009 at Sydney's Conference & Exhibition Centre.

Wormald will be displaying its extensive range of life safety and rescue products incorporating Scott® self-contained (SCBA), escape and airline breathing apparatus, thermal imaging cameras, portable and fixed gas detection. Wormald will also be promoting Akron nozzles, portable and fixed monitors, Luxfer® breathing air cylinders and also Ansul® Bush Fire Foam.

GAAM Emergency Products will be showcasing a wide variety of its wildfire equipment, including couplings and hose stranglers. Also on display will be GAAM's range of fire hose nozzles, fire fighting pumps, thermal imaging cameras and area, torch and vehicle lighting options.

"We're looking forward to the networking opportunities that the conference provides as well as the chance to demonstrate our broad range of fire protection solutions to this sector of the market," said John Lynch, National Commercial Operations Manager for Portable Fire Equipment, Wormald.

"Equipment designed to help firefighters tackle wildfires is an essential part of our business and the Wildfire Conference provides us with a great opportunity to show these products to an avid audience," said Ian Price, GAAM Emergency Products.
