GAAM major sponsor of Tassie Fire Conference

GAAM Emergency Products is once again demonstrating its support for the annual joint AFAC/Bushfire CRC Conference by becoming one of the major sponsors of the event.

Taking place in Hobart from 19 until 21 September 2007, GAAM will also be exhibiting an array of fire equipment including an Australian first – a new Godiva World Series pump being delivered from the UK especially for the event.

The Godiva World Series pump features an integrated compressed air foam system (CAFS) module providing state-of-the-art technology. The module offers a more efficient way to fight fires with improved knock down times, reduced water usage, less environmental damage and less stress on the fire fighter. The Godiva World Series pump components consist of a compressor, FoamLogix 2.1A, 3.3 or 5.0 electronic foam proportioning unit and Hale X-Mixer system with full integrated panel and safety interlocks. The compact unit size of 95cm wide x 95cm deep x 90cm high means locker space is not compromised.

“The Fire Conference is a very well-respected event and we have always been delighted with the response we’ve received from visitors each year,” said Ian Price, Business Manager, GAAM Emergency Products. “We’re extremely excited about displaying the new Godiva World Series pump and look forward to receiving visitors’ feedback.”

To find out more about the Godiva World Series pump and a further range of fire products, visit GAAM Emergency Products at Booths 28 and 29.
